It's A Ming!

Do you know what a Ming is? You should—because everyone is talking about it. It takes an important part in the lives of the people concerned with it. When it first appears, the "Ming" is a white elephant, then it turns out to be something very valuable, and then—well, everything ends happily only when the "Ming" is no more. What is the "Ming"? It will be fully explained at the high school play to be held Thursday evening, January 21 at the Town Hall. Everyone ought to be there. The cast of characters is as follows:

Agnes, Grace Randall; Margaret, Barbara Cota; Minerva, Abbie French; Phyllis, Rena Tyler; Marcella, Marianne Leach; Millie, Virginia Mann; Miss Jones, Dorothy Stone; Nora, Monica Szestowicki; Aunt Lucinda, Christine Gray; Miss Sprackler, Mary Breining. Fire Destroys Home And Farm Buildings On Maple Street

Early Monday morning between the hours of one and two in the still cold of night, fire broke out in the barn of Mr. Peter Sczyrba on Maple street which swept all connected buildings—a large barn, tobacco barn, the house, ell, and home—and left it a mass of smouldering embers in a very short time. The fire burned fiercely and rapidly and the members of the Northfield Fire Department responded as well as the apparatus from Hinsdale with three men which was summoned. It is said that neighbors discovered the blaze and efforts were made at once to arouse the Sczyrba family who were asleep. The live stock was saved as well as the furniture of the home but the farm machinery, tools, hay, tobacco, and corn was a total loss.

It is estimated the loss will be about $7,000 though the amount of insurance is not known. Mr. and Mrs. Waldo H. Stebbins opened their home to give the Sczyrba family a place to stay for the night.

The firemen from both Northfield and Hinsdale with neighbors and friends worked hard to save whatever they could and to protect surrounding property. There was no water available and the distance too great from the water hydrant at Main near Maple street.

Chain store methods are used in that I. G. A. store must be modern in arrangement and display of goods, national and local advertising is emphasized, co-operative buying gives the benefit of low prices, and local managers are allowed to use their initiative in the management of their stores.

Fire Conference Held At Worcester

Formation of a State Fire College at which officers and members of rural fire departments could learn the technique of fire fighting was advocated at a fire fighting conference held in conjunction with and at the close of the 14th annual Union Agricultural meeting at Worcester.

The conference attended by fire department executives and persons interested in fire protection from all sections of the Commonwealth, went on record as favoring the appointment of a committee to study the needs of rural communities and report at a meeting to be held early next year.

James M. Healy, state fire marshal, presided at the meeting.

Three address gave the meeting advice on the organization, equipment and management of rural fire departments. Chief Charles L. McCarthy of the Worcester fire department spoke on "Fire Department Organization," followed by Chief R. G. Wells of the Falmouth fire department, who told of "Problems of the Small Town Fire Department." The final address was by John P. Crowe of Westboro, assistant state fire warden on "Fighting Farm and Forest Fires."

Throughout all the addresses the towns were urged to beware of "high pressure salesmen" and to study the needs of the community in selecting apparatus and equipment. "There've been too many towns that have had a 500-gallon or 750-gallon pumper sold to them with not enough water in the town to get a dribble out of a line of hose," declared Fire Warden Crowe.

Chief Wells berated the "sidewalk chiefs," who stand around at a fire and criticize the way it is being fought. He urged townspeople to fight this criticism and stand behind their officers and men.

At the conclusion of the speeches Chief Hill of Belmont advocated the formation of a State Fire college for the education of rural firemen. This met the approval of the entire conference several speaking in its favor.

Frank L. Boyden At Deerfield Academy

The "off-horses" in Deerfield who threw cold water on the idea of "the little professor" who took off his hat and coat in the old Deerfield Academy building some 25 or 30 years ago and went to work to improve it and enlarge it, are now relegated to the department of poor guessers. Frank Boyden was the young fellow who "came up" from Amherst and got busy. Today he has an institution which is comparable with the finest preparatory schools in this country and all this achievement in a comparatively short span of time. Buildings have gone up rapidly during the past few years and on January 15 another is to be dedicated—a new three unit gymnasium which will be the finest of any school gymnasium in the country. In the center wing are three basketball courts and an opportunity for gymnastic work of all kinds. The left wing contains a swimming pool, 75x40 yards. In the right wing is a store, a trophy room, barber shop, post office and five squash racquet courts. The new building cost $500,000, the pool alone costing $150,000. Another building which will contain 24 classrooms and a magnificent library is also being built as well as another dormitory. The cost of the academic building will be $380,000 and the cost of the latter $250,000. — Orange Enterprise.

The expenditures were: To state treasurer, $7,835; to county treasurer, $335; to town treasurer $6,092.57; to complainants and informants, $65; to town officers, $24,88; to witnesses, $590.80; fees retained, $170; to depositors in lieu of sure

EDITORIAL

Mrs. Nellie Haley of Warwick avenue sends to the Editor a marked copy of the Boston Post which contained in its issue of January 10th several plans for living on five dollars a week. It is a copyrighted material and we cannot publish but the suggestions are full of practical common sense and show that existence can be had upon the strictest economy. Perhaps we are all too extravagant in our methods of living and can afford to be more careful. It has been often said that the waste and extravagance of the average town would feed many people in dire distress and need elsewhere about the land.

The year 1932 is a "leap year" and February will have twenty nine days—and that reminds us that according to tradition the young ladies of Northfield will have the opportunity of proposing marriage with solemn propriety to their "Romeos." However unusual as such a proposition may seem it seems to be well established that they have a perfect right so to do. There is a work on "Courtship, Love and Marriage," published in 1606, in which it is explicitly stated:

"Albeit it is now become a part of the common lawe in regarde to social relations of life that as often as every bissexile year doth return, the ladyes have the sole privilege during the time it continueth of making love unto the men, which they doe, either by wordes or by looks, as to them it seemeth proper and moreover, no man will be entituled to the benefit of the clergy who dothe in any wise treat her proposal with slight or contumely."

The cry for economy is reverberating about the state. In the messages of most of the mayors-elect of Massachusetts a plea for conservatism and retrenchment has salied forth in municipal and town expenditures. The State Commissioner of Taxation has issued a warning note and advises caution as state money to towns for their use may fall short at least twenty per cent. No one wants a high tax rate and no property owner of Northfield is reported as willing to face a forty-dollar tax rate which it has been publicly stated, might come upon us unless we "conserve" and turn to an "economical" frame of mind when the regular expenses and appropriations of the towns come up for consideration at the annual town meeting.

Needs that are necessary will have to be faced and met in a manly fashion and we must not put off imperative demands—but all expenditures should be given careful consideration before acting upon them.

OBITUARY

Rev. Herbert L. Buzzell

Friends and former parishioners of Rev. Herbert L. Buzzell were deeply grieved to hear of his death Wednesday afternoon (Dec. 30) at the Brockton hospital, following a short illness. He was sixty six years of age, a graduate of Bates College and of the Meadowlawn Theological School, Pennsylvania. He was in the ministry for thirty-three years and was highly esteemed for his sterling qualities.

Rev. M. Buzzell came to Northfield as the Pastor of the Unitarian Church May 1, 1913. He was ordained on June 17, 1913. He resigned on Dec. 25, 1915 removing to Bridgewater where he served as pastor for seven years. Although making his home at Brockton, he served the church in Winthrop, Mass., and Calais, Maine. He leaves wife, Emma E., and two daughters, Mrs. Enid Gober and Miss Gladys Buzzell.

REV. GEORGE TUDOR JONES

Friends in Northfield will learn with regret of the death of Rev. George Tudor Jones at Red Creek, N.Y., who for many years was pastor of the church in Warwick. Mr. Jones died at the home of his sister and he was 59 years old.

He was born in Illinois and was graduated from Amherst College in the class with Calvin Coolidge and later went to Yale Theological Seminary. He held several pastorates before he went to Warwick in 1914, where he lived until 1920. For a short time he lived in Northfield where he was pastor of the Unitarian church here and made many friends. He had recently given his attention to publishing a book entitled "The Creative Activity of God." He leaves several brothers and sisters.

Massachusetts fair officials are planning to give George Washington a royal welcome when he returns to the Bay State this year as part of the nation wide observance of the George Washington Bi-centennial and much of the two day 12th annual meeting of the Massachusetts Agricultural Fairs Association in Hotel Kimball, Springfield, on Thursday and Friday, January 21 and 22, will be given over to the discussion of bi-centennial arrangements.

When My Summons Comes

When my final farewell to the world I have said,
And the curtains are pulled down for me;
And I pause for repose in the camp of the dead
On my way to the Great Referee,
Will I have good reason to ever have lived?
Can I point with a feeling of pride
To any good thing which I did for the world—
Besides the mere fact that I died?

Will I leave in the heart of a friend a song,
And a feeling that I will be missed?
Will my dog wail a requiem lonely and long
For a touch of the hand he has kissed?
Will some thought of mine have guided a life
To a triumph it might not have known?
Will there be something vital and strong in the world
Sprung from seeds that I may have sown?

I care not for fame, or a monument fine,
And memory soon fades away;
But a friendly act which I leave behind
May reach into Eternity's day.
I'd just like to feel with a comforting sense,
As I start through the darkening night,
That for some of earth's ills I had made recompense—
'Twould brighten my path to the Light.

TO THE REDWOODS

Do the birds, do the bees,
Do the flowers at ease,
Do butterflies gay,
Do millers at play,
Sense God as Almighty
As Giver, Provider—
To you and to me,
In creating Big Trees?

Do you wonder in awe,
Do you think of a law,
Do you question the might
When camping at night,
Of the Power and the Glory,
Whose grace is presented—
To you and to me,
In creating Big Trees?

Would you laugh, would you live,
Would you happiness give,
Imbibe mountain incense,
Disdain fads and pretense?
Then tie to the forests
Where God's gift is choicest,
To you and to me,
In creating Big Trees.

Albert E. C. Smith
Editor's Note:—The poem "To The Redwoods" is an original one by Albert E. C. Smith of Hollywood, California. This young man is a former resident of Northfield having made his home here. He was a student at Mount Hermon and his many friends here will remember him as a fine fellow. This poem and another "In the Desert" which will be printed next week were sent to a friend here and his literary effort is to be commended.

A BIT OF ADVICE

Laugh and take the jest of life, be a man with men,
Give a blow and take a blow and rise to fight again.
But take a tip from one who knows and have it understood—
Yes, get it clearly in your head,
Hang it just above your bed,
Say it when your prayers are said:
"You needn't be a sissy to be good."

Sing and dance and have your fun, but keep this truth in mind:
All the joy that is worth while is of the honest kind.
Get out there with the rugged men, do what others do.
Brave the wind and face the rain,
Bend your muscles to the strain,
Have red blood in every vein,
But stay clean and true.

Never shrink from any task, hear what you must hear,
Take your post whate'er it be, but keep your conscience clear:
Build your manhood firm and strong, stand where men have stood.

Fight whenever you must fight,
Work to win with all your might,
But remember, day and night;
"You needn't be a sissy to be good."

Gill

The Riverside members of the Gill P. T. A. are rehearsing for a one act play to be given later in the month when a public supper and two one act plays will be given for the benefit of the association. Mrs. Hunt is directing the Riverside production. The other play will be given by the members at Mount Hermon and is under the direction of Miss Baker.

Mrs. Mary Plaistridge returned to Riverside Sunday to her school duties, after two weeks' vacation.

The epidemic of measles has about run its course in the Riverside school and the attendance is much improved. Scarlet fever has appeared in the Sunnyside school, the case of Henry Sicac having been reported to the board of health. Louise and Edna Ayer are sick with measles.

Mrs. G. E. Hastings is still in the Farren hospital. Her daughter, Virginia, has gone to Bernardston to visit at Holman Whitaker's while her son, Junior, is with his grandmother, Mrs. Luther Hastings.

Leaves From My Portfolio OF ACHIEVEMENT

The achievement of one man is or should be tonic to another. The inspiration of the heart follows the sight of the eye. The atmosphere was meant for more than rays of light to traverse or penetrate. There is exhilaration in it by virtue of the truths and merit of life which accumulate and are dispensed.

What we accomplish becomes an assurance for the way of our feet. It is putting firm stones down in the ripple of the stream of days on which we may cross with surety.

When men have inward thoughts out-looking, the inward look leads to or prompts the outer duty. Men find within both the motive and the power to achieve a worthy thing on earth. They must acquaint themselves with themselves before they are ready for a deed. They must take their measure before the possible, and with the energy of hope they may do tomorrow what seemed the impossible today.

System is a band about a bundle. The things in the bundle might be scattered and unavailable without they were held together. System is a belt for personality itself. It is again the encircling arm of purpose unfolding at one's will and reaching forth toward a deed and a life.

Louis Untermeyer speaks of one as remembering Paradise as "that perfect echo" of God's gentle mood. Eve put it behind her. She pushed Adam out with a woman's hand, instinct with wisdom, and influenced him to make the world habitable and great by endeavor. As Mr. Untermeyer writes, Eve claimed Adam "for great and strengthening defeats," with finer things than Eden and lustier worlds.

We are more interested in Plato than in Aristotle, because Plato taught men to think while Aristotle thought for men. He that leads us to achieve something is worth more to us than he who does a thing for us, or does it so broadly as to leave us nothing to think on do after him. He that suggests something to us we appreciate above him who tells us all we ought to know. We want still to be nobler, to think higher thoughts, to do better deeds. He is the true master who can command disciples which are glad to be led, and which are themselves inspired to become even the greatest.

The man who makes a conspicuous place we can honor unreservedly, but the man who aspires to a conspicuous place, which another has made, and gains it by the suffrage of his fellows shall have to buffet the waves of suspicion or of misgiving raised by the winds of adverse criticism on the part of those who may have coveted the same and failed to secure it. And the most of us who were no rivals to fame will watch with a judgment yet to be convinced in favor of him who takes or accepts, while the man who created his place and kept it won our confidence easily by his achievement.

Referring to the literature of a Shakespeare and the art of a Botticelli, Chesterton said, "It is one thing to be able to do something and quite another to be able to discuss how it is done." It is to be relected that those who may discuss how it is done may not have been able to do it. He that executes is primary, supreme; he that may talk about it is secondary and dispensable. It is the deed, the achievement, we want, and before that the power of the deed. Creation is the prerogative of a god. It brings into being what others may take, touch or hold, or use to their satisfaction or delight. Thought of it follows the thing. The philosophy of it is a kind of worship at the shrine of a Reality.

The largest bank in the County is the Franklin Savings Institution with resources of over fourteen million of dollars. All Savings banks and savings accounts in National and State banks show an increase. Mr. John W. Smead President of the First National Bank & Trust Company, said this always happens during periods of depression as the public forsakes the field of speculation for the security of savings accounts. Mr. Smead stated the trust department of the First National Bank and Trust company shows a substantial gain for the past year. The increase in living trusts and in executorships is a definite one, he reported, adding that the bank has been entrusted with the settling of many more estates than it has ever before handled.

John W. Haigis, president of the Franklin County Trust company said "that while business and industrial conditions have by no means been normal, business in general has been less affected here than in many communities. We believe there are indications which point toward an improvement in our industries, and expect that a change for the better will soon be manifested."

The growth of The Northfield National Bank, the youngest member of the group, has been substantial yet conservative and its future is destined to be marked by greater progress.

W. C. T. U., To Meet At Greenfield Friday

The W. C. T. U. will hold a gathering at the Methodist Church in Greenfield this Friday evening with supper to be served. There will be several speakers and members of the Northfield W. C. T. U., headed by Mrs. M. E. Morgan will attend. The meeting is in celebration of the 12th Anniversary of the 18th Amendment and an enrollment will be started of those opposed to drink.

During the week ending January 16, meetings under W. C. T. U., auspices will be held in more than thousand communities stressing the scientific facts of the effects of alcohol on the human system and the growing conviction that intoxicating drink has no place in this age.

At the meeting the following will be read:

"We challenge the wets to solve the liquor problem with anything better than total abstinence; we challenge the wets to produce a better educational program than the facts concerning alcohol as divulged by science; we challenge the wets to substitute something better than law observance. We challenge the mto produce a program of liquor regulation which liquor men will obey and which can be guaranteed as a remedy for drunkenness, vice, lawlessness, corruption, and waste. For twelve years the wets have sneered at prohibition. What have they to offer?"

What Our Children Thought of "Snow Queen"

"The Snow Queen," the third play in the series of Children's Plays given under the Auspices of the Greenfield Woman's Club was given Jan. 1, in the Greenfield High School Auditorium.

The children who were guests of the Fortnightly and the Parent Teacher Association for this play were Bertha Smolen, Grade 8, Herbert White, Grade 7, Olga Haranak, Grade 6, William Black, Grade 5, Thelma Richardson, Grade 4.

The children greatly appreciate the generosity of these two associations. At least thirty different children will be able to attend these wonderful plays who could not otherwise.

The following sketches written by the children who attended this play will perhaps be of interest to you.

The parts that I liked in the play of "The Snow Queen" were when Kay made a foot stool for Greta's Grandmother and when Kay disappeared and Greta could not find him till after she had gone to many places. Finally, she found him with the Snow Queen.

Bertha Smolen, Grade 8.

The part I liked best was when Kay made the stool for Greta's grandmother. He was making it in the yard. When he finished it, he called Greta to come out. When she saw the stool, she ran to him. "Let's hide it under this chair before Grandma comes!" They hid it and waited for her. They told her that they would give her three guesses to tell what they made her. If she didn't guess what it was, she would have to tell them a story every day for a week. She had three guesses and she didn't guess what it was. They told her to shut her eyes and lift up her feet. They took the stool from under the chair and put it under her feet. She opened her eyes and looked at what they had made her. She gave them a little story book with a picture of a Snow Queen. A piece of broken looking-glass that was broken by the Devil and his two imps flew into Kay's eye and also into his heart. This meant that Kay would always see things in a disagreeable manner.

Olga Haranak, Grade 6.

The part I liked best was where Kay and Greta were playing and a piece of mirror, broken by the Devil and the twins, flew into Kay's eye. Greta was kind enough to try and get it out but Kay got angry with him and ran out to hide with the rest of the boys. Kay hooked onto the Snow Queen's big white sled. Then Greta went around looking for Kay. Then a robber girl helped Greta out by loaning her her reindeer so that she could go to the Snow Queen's Palace.

William Black, Grade 5.

The part I liked best was when Greta was in the Robber's cave. The Robber girl told her that she would free her. That night the girl's doves told Greta that Kay was in the palace of the Snow Queen.

The robber girl called her Reindeer and told it to carry Greta to the Snow Queen's Palace.

Herbert White, Grade 7.

WASHINGTON STAMPS ARE ON SALE

Twelve Denominations in the Issue, Ten of Which Bear New Portraits Of George Washington

George Washington memorial stamps are now being issued by our Post Offices in Northfield. The stamps are all-Washington series, and in addition Washington stamped envelopes are included in the issue. Washington's likeness has appeared in every regular issue the government has put forth, Stuart portraits and the Houdon bust being the staple offering. In the commemorative series of 12 stamps, from one-half cent up to 10 cents in denomination, are reproduced again the Houdon bust, two portraits by Stuart, five by Peale (from 1772 to 1795); two by Trumbull, one by William J. Williams (of Washington as a Mason) and a crayon drawing by Charles Saint-Memin, done in 1798. Washington's last likeness from life. Here, then, are 10 Washingtons, besides the two familiar in the mail for generations. The dozen portrait stamps are a noteworthy art collection.

READ THE SPECIAL "ADS"!

Those who have visited Plymouth, Vermont, the home town of ex-President Calvin Coolidge were interested to read recently of the death of ex-President Coolidge's aunt, Mrs. John Wilder, 88. She is the last of his relatives living in Plymouth. Mrs. Wilder, who was Gracia Moor, was a sister of the former Victoria Moor, mother of the former President. Her husband, "Uncle" John Wilder, died last September. The Wilders lived most of their lives in a house next to that occupied by the former President and his parents.

Outstanding among several social functions planned for the Massachusetts group is a luncheon to be given at Hotel Mayflower, the 14th by Mrs. Frederick Huff Payne of Greenfield, wife of the assistant secretary of war, at which Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of Vice President Charles G. Curtis, will be the honor guest. Other luncheon guests will include Mrs. Herbert B. Payne and Miss Helen Payne of Greenfield, who are to be house guests.

It is not known as yet whether any women from Northfield will attend these important meetings at Washington.

South Vernon

The annual meeting of the Advent Christian church was held last week. The following officers were elected: Chairman, Rev. F. H. Leavitt; clerk, E. W. Dunklee; treasurer, A. A. Dunklee; auditor, H. E. Buffum; chorister, Rev. George A. Gray; trustees, A. A. Dunklee, R. C. Allen, and Rev. F. H. Leavitt; deacons, Rev. A. H. Evans and Rev. F. H. Leavitt; deaconesses, Mrs. A. H. Evans and Mrs. George A. Gray; social committee, Mrs. Clara Pratt, Mrs. Fred Adams and A. A. Dunklee; flower committee chairman, Mrs. A. H. Evans.

A large crowd enjoyed the excellent entertainment that was held at the South Schoolhouse last week Tuesday evening by the P. T. A. It was a decided success. An evening of fun and laughter for all. A large Pantomime, called "The Children's Program," was given, composed of all local talent. It was called the best entertainment that had been held there in a long time and it would bear repeating.

Name Contest, Conducted on similar lines as an old fashioned spelling match, with Captains, Miss Eleanor Brown, the school teacher had one side and Miss Eleanor Bruce, the other side. Miss Brown's side won a prize; solo, Miss Eleanor Bruce; reading, by Edgar Bruce; song by the Humming Bird Club. Composed of five girls, Alma and Ruth Dunklee, Ginnie Edson, Elinore Bruce and Nina Gray; reading, Mrs. Merle Jones, "When the Minister Came to Tea," solo, by Mrs. E. P. Edson; community Singing, led by Rev. George A. Gray, while "Children" prepare for "The Children's Program"; recitation by Sallie Jones, Eleanor Brown; song by Lois Brown, Gertrude Gibson; recitation by Johnnie Pike, Alfred Edison; recitation by Bonnie Chandler, Mary Cowles; recitation by Ann Brent, Bessie Dunklee; recitation by Jessie Smith, Mrs. Merle Jones; recitation by Elizabeth Freeman, Eleanor Dunklee; recitation, "My First Piece" by Cherry Higgins, Inez Brown; song by Lois Brown; recitation by Charlie Green, Ernest Dunklee; recitation by Betty Gaye, Edna Edson; recitation by Clara Bow, Josie Holton; recitation by Jackie Starr, Edgar Bruce; song, "When I Carried Your Books Home From School," sung by Lois Brown and pantomimed by Bonnie Chandler and Charlie Green; song by the school, in behind the curtain out of sight. School teacher, Janie Cowles, dressed with an old fashioned long dress, sitting at her desk and read of the "Children's Program. Sandwiches and cocoa were served for refreshments. All the "Children" were received with hearty encore, and they all acted and spoke their pieces fine.

Next Sunday services at the South Vernon church will be at 10.45 a.m. Sermon by the pastor, Rev. George A. Gray; 12.15 p.m. Church school; 7 p.m. Praise Service; 7.30 p.m. sermon by the preacher; 7.30 p.m. Thursday Mid-week service at the Vernon Home; 7.30 p.m. Friday. Choir rehearsals at the parsonage.

Last Sunday was Communion Sunday and the pastor preached a fine Communion sermon in the morning. A beautiful duet, "Ivory Palaces," was sung by E. W. Dunklee and Mrs. Gladys Shattuck of Northfield, Mass. In the evening service the pastor gave a solemn, powerful and impressive sermon, "Prepare to Meet Your God." As he delivered that fine sermon it seemed as though the very Spirit of God rested upon him, and that intense interest was felt by the congregation. If the unsaved were never warned of their danger in putting off their salvation, they were fully warned that night.

Mrs. Nellie Adams visited relatives in Keene, N.H., last week.

Charles Stoddard of Westmoreland, N. H., was the guest of his cousins Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dunklee last week.

Gordon M. Cook

Wins 4-H Medal

Gordon B. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Cook of Hadley, received a medal at the Worcester agricultural conference as the most outstanding 4-H club boy in Massachusetts.

Gordon Cook is 20 and a freshman at Stockbridge school of agriculture, Massachusetts State College. He has completed nine years of 4-H poultry club work. His work the last year has been a dairy project of a total value $2,995.00 and a value above cost of $928. Cook owns a herd of nine purebred Holsteins, valued at $1600. The milk record of three members of this herd was the following: Milk, 16, 479; test 3.4; fast 568.3. This record won for Cook a trip to the national dairy show at St. Louis, as the 4-H club member of New England who made the best record in economical milk production. In the last seven years Cook has won at fairs cash prizes of nearly $1,200, besides many medals.

Gordon Cook is the son of Mrs. Joseph G. Cook who was formerly, Miss Ethel Beers and lived in Northfield in the house now occupied by Dr. A. H. Wright. Her parents conducted a large farm on the Thompson property immediately across the street.

Less Money From State
Perhaps 20 Per Cent

The Massachusetts Mayors' club and the Massachusetts Selectmen's association in separate meetings in Boston last Saturday afternoon heard warnings that municipalities must practice economy in the coming year live within their means, or take the consequences.

Henry F. Long, commissioner of corporations and taxation, told the selectmen that with decreased revenue coming to cities and towns this year expenditures must be curtailed or the communities will meet difficulties.

DeWitt C. DeWolf, secretary to Governor Ely, supported Commissioner Long, asserting that unless effective action is taken to reduce expenses some towns will be confronted with difficulties which they do not realize at present. This would be due, he said, to the fact that they will find difficulty in negotiating loans from banks to meet their obligations.

Commissioner Long estimated the receipts from the income tax, which is distributed to towns and cities, will drop about 20 per cent in 1932 as compared to 1931. This will mean a reduction of about $6,000,000.

Commissioner Long added that tax sources have been so depleted there now remain only the tobacco and beverage sales for new revenue.

"The time has come," Mr. Long said, "when the responsibility of meeting the situation cannot be passed along to the other fellow. The days of easy money are over and a slogan such as that should be pasted on the desk of every Moderator when the time comes, for the towns, in their annual meeting to make their appropriations."

Commissioner Long advised that the selectmen endeavor to "sell" the idea of economical management to the townspeople by explaining in detail every item in the budget. In past town meetings, he explained, warnings of selectmen have been overruled but this is a situation that cannot continue.

Gazette And Courier
To Publish Weekly

Announcement has been made that the Greenfield Gazette and Courier will hereafter issue on a weekly basis with issues on Friday mornings only, instead of Wednesdays and Fridays, as has been the policy since March 1, 1929.

The single issue of The Gazette will be considerably enlarged and many new features added. There will be no change in the subscription price, except in Greenfield, which was the only change made at the time of their becoming a semi-weekly. This was necessitated by the increase in postage and delivery charges. To all Greenfield subscribers the same as in the rest of the county, the annual subscription will be $2.00. Single copies of The Gazette will be five cents instead of three as at present.

Pedestrians Warned

Pedestrians should be charged with their share of the responsibility for automobile accidents, says the A. L. A. Legal department.

An analysis of the weekly accident reports issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, says the statement, "shows that between sixty and seventy-five per cent of the fatalities involving automobiles are pedestrians. As long as pedestrians are allowed to use the traveled portions of the streets without restriction, and as long as they are allowed to repeatedly disregard crossing lights, conditions will not improve but will undoubtedly get worse."

Pedestrians should bear in mind that it is easier for them to use regular crossings and to observe traffic lights than for the operator of an automobile, which weighs a ton and a half or more, to stop on a slippery street."

Franklin Ministerial Union

The Franklin Union of Congregational Ministers held its regular gathering at the Mansion House in Greenfield last Tuesday January 12th.

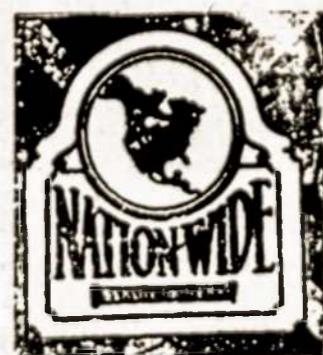

Rev. J. O. Purdue reviewed Prof. Albert Knudsen's book, "The Philosophy of Personalism" Rev. F. W. Hemmway presented a paper on "The Parade of the Immortals." The usual time was given to discussion.

"Hey, Senator, I hear you were at the President's camp."
"I was."
"What did you land?"
"Nothing but fish."

What's New
in the New Chevrolet Six

CHEVROLET When you read what's new in the new Chevrolet Six, you, too, will agree it's the Great American Value for 1932. Syncro-Mesh and Free Wheeling combined for the first time in a low-priced car! Engine and chassis improvements that raise performance to new heights of power, speed and smoothness! The finest Fisher bodies Chevrolet has ever introduced. And the same qualities of reliability and economy that have won the approval of millions of Chevrolet owners. All these you will find in the new Chevrolet Six at one of the lowest prices in the market! That's why the new Chevrolet Six is called the Great American Value for 1932!

Syncro-Mesh Transmission

Syncro-Mesh permits you to shift gears with marvelous quickness, quietness and ease. It even enables you to shift rapidly from high back into second, any time you want to use the braking force of the engine.

A Smoother, Improved Six-Cylinder Engine

Chevrolet now has down-draft carburetion, new cylinder head, manifold, counter balanced crankshaft and rubber mounting, increasing power 20 per cent to 60 horsepower.

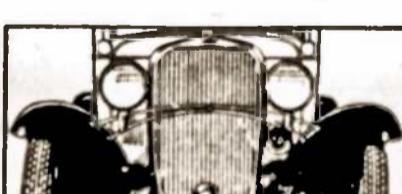

Simplified Free Wheeling

To take advantage of Chevrolet's Free Wheeling, simply press a button on the dash. Until you pull it out again, you "Free Wheel." You coast when your foot is off the accelerator. You shift with magical ease.

65 to 70 Miles an Hour with
Faster Acceleration

Vital new features in Chevrolet's six-cylinder engine enable it to develop 65 to 70 miles an hour. Stop-watch tests show an acceleration from 0 to 35 miles in 6.7 seconds.

Stabilized Front-End Mounting

Chevrolet's exclusive method of mounting front fenders, lamps, double tie-bar and radiator securely to the frame stabilizes the front-end and insures steadiness when traveling over rough roads.

Smart New Fisher Bodies

Chevrolet's new Fisher bodies are the smartest ever to appear in the low-price field. Furthermore, Fisher craftsmen have added new elements of strength, quietness and solidity to the wood-and-steel construction.

THE WHY of
SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

BLOWING ON THE CARDS

YOU will often see card players blow on a pack of cards before they deal, or if it is not their deal, notice that they blow upon the hand dealt them before they begin to play it "for luck." This ought to help some in "making in the pot," for it is not only a bit of magic—the magic of transference—in itself, but it is also an appeal to the moon-goddess Isis.

Mention has already been made of the idea of the primitive belief that the breath was the soul, or at least, strongly identified with it, a supernatural as well as a natural attribute of human beings. Many mythological stories and many customs of savage peoples today might be cited in this connection. Therefore, when a man blows his breath upon a pack of cards, or a "hand" of cards, he may be expected to transmit to them something of his own ego so that the cards will behave in harmony with his desires. And also we must not forget our old friend Pliny's statement that the moon may fairly be considered the planet of breath because it saturates the earth, and by its approach fills bodies, while by its departure it empties them.

As Isis is the great original moon goddess—or Astarte; apparently they were the same—the later moon-goddesses being guilty of infringement of copyright, the blowing of breath upon the cards is an invocation to her for the granting of a straight flush, or at least some minor blessing of the sort.

Liz.
There is at least one Judge in Kansas City who knows his birds.

First off, they brought a blackbird into court on the charge of chicken stealing.

"What made you steal that chicken?" demanded the learned judge. "Was it because you were really hungry?"

"No, sub," replied the blackbird, "Ah can't say as I was hungry. Ah done stole dat chicken fo' a lark."

"There is no resemblance whatever," snapped the judge and meted out a ten-day sentence with the advice that the darky spend it reading a bird book.

Those Good Old Days
It is the feeble and ill-nourished mind that shrinks from knowledge of what has been, and suffers from pessimistic dread of what is yet to be. It is only the mentally and spiritually banished—prophesying of evil to come—who believe that all change in our own day must be for the worse, and who long for the "good old days" of their grandparents.—Albert Shaw in Review of Reviews.

Wrote Hymn on Window Pane
From a window pane in a little English village to the pages of millions of hymn books, printed in many languages, is the experience that befell one writer, Harriet Auber. Confined one day to her home, she composed the words of "Our Blest Redeemer," afterwards amusing herself by scratching them on the window of her room, since when they have been sung by countless voices all over the world.
